

Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month Workshops

Join Birch Family Services during Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month
for a series of free virtual events.

Why Is My Child Not Talking Yet?

Date: March 5, 2024, 7PM

Learn strategies for families to incorporate speech and language activities into everyday routines and interactions at home, fostering language development in naturalistic settings. This workshop will empower parents, caregivers, and professionals to better support children in reaching their communication goals.

Navigating the System – Services Available for People with Special Needs

Date: March 18, 2024, 2PM

Receive guidance on navigating the complex systems of services and supports for individuals with special needs, including accessing assessments and evaluations, navigating service eligibility criteria, and advocating for needed services including healthcare, education, social and community supports, and transition services.

Understanding My Child's Challenging Behavior

Date: March 22, 2024, 10AM

This workshop is designed to empower participants to effectively manage challenging behaviors in children with developmental disabilities and create a positive and supportive environment for their growth and development.

Understanding Developmental Disabilities

Date: March 27, 2024, 12PM

Learn to recognize old ways of thinking and challenge common stereotypes. Gain understanding about the lives of people with disabilities from the Americans with Disabilities Act to present.

Food Glorious Food

Date: March 28, 2024, 10AM

This Workshop provides participants with the tools needed to identify, understand, and accommodate the often unusual or limited involvement children with Developmental Disabilities and Autism have with food and eating.

This month's series of workshops are designed to promote understanding, inclusivity, and empowerment for individuals with developmental disabilities and their families. These workshops offer valuable resources and strategies, expert guidance, and opportunities for meaningful dialogue.
