ABOUT THIS DIRECTORY

This directory lists services available to Brooklyn individuals with a developmental disability and/or their families. In order to use many of these services, the person with a developmental disability must live with his or her family in Brooklyn. Developmental disabilities include intellectual disability, autism, cerebral palsy, neurological impairment, global delays, and epilepsy, etc.

This directory includes the programs for Brooklyn families that are funded by the New York State Office of People with Developmental Disabilities and administered through its local office. ABOUT THE BROOKLYN FAMILY SUPPORT SERVICE ADVISORY COUNCIL

At each of OPWDD's Developmental Disabilities Regional Offices (DDROs) to help families access Family Support Services. Each DDRO also has to represent the interests of family members and people with developmental disabilities. The councils work in partnership with the DDROs to make decisions supporting families and loved ones.

Family Support Services can help in times of crisis when a family member or loved one becomes ill, or when things get difficult at home for other reasons. With assistance and support, families can often work these situations out and stay together. Find out more information about these services and supports by calling the Family Support Services Coordinator at the DDRO representing the county in which the individual/family lives.

DDROs continually work with local community agencies to ensure that other family support services for people with developmental disabilities and their loved ones are available when and where they are needed.

The Brooklyn Family Support Service Advisory Council also serves in an advisory capacity to the New York State and New York City Government.

We have representatives from the Brooklyn office of the Office for People with Developmental Disabilities (OPWDD) Brooklyn DDRO. In addition, we advise and get support from the Brooklyn Developmental Disabilities Council (BKDDC) BKDDCouncil@hhcsny.org. For information call Debra Greif, BFSSAC at 718-264-5084.
